The purpose of "Living Green" is to inform prospective and current residents of environmentally friendly amenities offered, and environmentally friendly practices pursued, at certain Fairfield affiliated properties. The "Living Green" amenities and practices should not be viewed as suggesting, endorsing, guaranteeing, or providing a warranty as to any product or service, or assuring any specific benefit, including, but not limited to, energy efficiency, reduced utility costs, safety, health and well-being, environmental conditions, sustainability, convenience, longevity, or durability. For warranty and guarantee information on specific products and services, Fairfield recommends that you contact the companies directly for any questions on warranties, product performance, recycled content, or "environmentally friendly" representations. "Living Green" should not be viewed to imply that the Fairfield community distributing the "Living Green" information has been certified as "green" or otherwise by a governmental or other certifying agency or body. The "Living Green" amenities and practices should not be construed as a term or condition of a rental agreement entered into at any Fairfield affiliated property.
